CRAZY SHIRTS "GONE TO THE DOGS"

Proceeds from annual Adopt-a-Dog T-shirt benefit Hawaiian Humane Society

HONOLULU (DRAFT) – Crazy Shirts latest design is literally going to the dogs! The Honolulu-based apparel company's limited edition t-shirt celebrates October as National Adopt-a-Dog Month and a portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Hawaiian Humane Society.

The front of the t-shirt features dogs doing tricks, while the back has even more dogs jumping for joy on a trampoline and reads "Adopt-a-Dog, Hawaiian Humane Society, People for animals. Animals for people."

"We're proud to once again partner with the Hawaiian Humane Society to create an original design that supports their mission," said Mark Hollander, CEO and president of Crazy Shirts. "It's a way our fans, and employees, can show their love for their furry, four-legged family members, while supporting a worthwhile cause."

The designs are available in men's white crew neck Ts, women's white mini-Ts, and children's white classic crew neck Ts. T-shirts can be purchased at the Hawaiian Humane Society and select Crazy Shirts retail stores, as well as online at CrazyShirts.com, and retail for $21 - $29.

Additionally, Crazy Shirt designed an exclusive tote bag for the 2015 Pet Walk, where they will also have a company team.
